The Lead Leak Check

A 10-point self-audit for small builders and brokerages across India — read it in five minutes, score yourself honestly.

Most enquiries do not go cold because the ad failed. They go cold because the callback never happened.

Portal enquiries, hoarding calls and ad leads arrive faster than two or three telecallers can call back. The desk picks the easy ones first, the rest go quiet, and the buyer signs elsewhere. This check finds the leak in your desk — one line at a time.

How to score

For each line, tick it only if it is true on a normal working day. Yes = 1. Not yet = 0. Add your ten marks at the end.

My score: ___ / 10

01 Every enquiry lands in one place.

Fix today: choose one sheet or board and make it the only place an enquiry lives.

☐ Yes = 1

02 You can see today's enquiries in one list.

Fix today: pull every source — portal, hoarding, ad, walk-in — into that one list.

☐ Yes = 1

03 Every enquiry gets a callback within 10 minutes in working hours.

Fix today: put one person on first-call duty and set a 10-minute rule.

☐ Yes = 1

04 You know today's enquiry count and today's callback count.

Fix today: write both numbers down at the end of the day.

☐ Yes = 1

05 A failed entry shows itself instead of disappearing.

Fix today: add a visible error branch so a lead that fails to save is flagged, not lost.

☐ Yes = 1

06 Every enquiry has a named owner and a next step with a date.

Fix today: add two columns — owner, next step date — and fill them in.

☐ Yes = 1

07 Unanswered leads get three follow-ups: day 1, day 3, day 7.

Fix today: set the three dates the moment the lead is created.

☐ Yes = 1

08 Nothing sits only in a telecaller's head.

Fix today: if it is not on the board, treat it as not done.

☐ Yes = 1

09 The desk starts the morning on the board, not on the call log.

Fix today: first twenty minutes, work down the board from the top.

☐ Yes = 1

10 Your team knows what the market is doing before the first call.

Fix today: share one short market update with the team each morning.

☐ Yes = 1

8–10

Your desk is holding.

Tighten lines 3 and 5, and keep the board clean every evening.

4–7

Leads are leaking daily.

Fix lines 1, 3 and 6 this week, before you spend on another ad.

0–3

You are paying for enquiries you lose.

Start with lines 1, 2 and 3 today — one list, one owner, ten-minute callback.
